

To Rice or Not to Rice?

The Ugly Truth about Rice!!

You have read on the Internet or heard from a friend that the best way to fix your wet phone or computer is to put in in a bag of rice. Just because its on the internet does not make it true. This is totally ineffective. Couscous will absorb more than the rice and don't use it either. Using rice makes the chance of repairing your electronics more difficult. Think about it!! The rice sort of absorbs the liquid and then turns mushy and spreads itself around leaving a wake of damage and starch all over the place. Don't take my word for it. Most reputable service professionals have the same Opinion.

So What Do I do?

Air dry the unit or use a low speed hair dryer as soon as possible. Get the unit to our repair shop as soon as you can so we can prevent it from getting worse. It might seem to work for you drying it out but the damage has been done. Without proper attention corrosion will set in over time and the unit will fail. At this point it's beyond repair. Its a ticking time bomb of death if you don't get it looked at and professional taken care of.

Check these links below for more articles on this issue.

<http://smartphones.wonderhowto.com/how-to/myth-debunked-uncooked-rice-isnt-best-way-save-your-water-damaged-phone-0154799/>

<https://www.gazelle.com/thehorn/2014/05/06/gazelles-guide-water-damage-truth-rice-galaxy-everything/>